

HCAC Welcomes Atlantic Constructors: Extraordinary through Innovation, Collaboration and Diversity

HCAC welcomes Atlantic Constructors, Incorporated (ACI) as a new partner and supporter of HCAC. Both organizations are looking forward to collaborating and creating partnership opportunities with HCAC minority contractor members.

ACI offers a full range of self-performed services, with highly trained employees who are willing and able to make critical, timely decisions focused on the client's needs. An unwavering commitment to safety and a passion for providing innovative, quality solutions makes ACI a company uniquely positioned to provide something extraordinary to the customer.

"We believe that, in addition to our capabilities, what sets us apart from our competitors is that we build not by counting people but by making people count. We seek strategic and sustainable relationships with small, women, and minority-owned firms", said Bill Cooper, Director of Diversity Strategies. "We look forward to meeting and getting to know the HCAC member firms", he added.

Atlantic Constructors is Central Virginia's leading service and construction provider for commercial and industrial markets. With a highly automated 130,000 square feet fabrication shop and 30,000 square feet office complex supporting more than 550 highly skilled employees, this company efficiently provides complete turn-key solutions.

ACI works across the spectrum of business and industry, from busy production facilities, power plants, and the many factories in the Mid-Atlantic, to commercial and government buildings, universities, hospitals and specialized laboratories.

We thank Mr. Cooper and ACI Atlantic Constructors for their willingness to support the HCAC.
